DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 03/21/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Hoberman teaches forming Z pleats in both the radial and longitudinal direction of the tubular device to optimize the elongation and expansion of the device along the longitudinal axis thereof.

In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971). Additionally, the arguments are not persuasive since modifying a similar device in a similar way is an obvious modification. Expectation of success is satisfied by Hoberman which include tubular embodiments (such as figs. 29-30, 37-39, 41-43 of 5234727)

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 01/15/2008 was filed after the mailing date of the final rejection on 11/30/2007. The submission is now in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Casey, II et al (USPAP 2004/0019375 A1) in view of Hoberman (4780344 or 5234727). Casey, II et al. disclose an implantable medical prosthesis for maintaining lumen patency with all the elements of claims 1 and 12 except for the pleats being formed about the radial direction of the graft See Figures 1 and 6 for a prosthesis (10) comprising a substantially cylindrical hollow body (11) having a distal end (14) and a proximal end (15). See [0005], [0025], [0026] and [0028] for the body (11) being formed from a self-supporting, non-metallic graft material and at least a portion of the graft material including a plurality of pleats (17) disposed in a Z pattern. The pattern provides radial support to the body (11) while maintaining flexibility in a tubular organ. While Casey, II et al does not provide a profile comprising a geometric pattern including Z pleats in a combination of a radial and longitudinal pattern on the graft, Hoberman teaches forming a profile comprising a geometric pattern including Z pleats in both the radial and longitudinal direction of the tubular device to optimize the elongation and expansion of the device along the longitudinal axis thereof. It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to modify the pleats of Casey, II et al to extend both longitudinally and radially along the elongated axis of the tubular graft to allow for expansion in both the radial and longitudinal direction of the device.

Claims 2-5, see Figures 1 and 6, lines 3-5 of [0028] and [0034] for distal and proximal anchors (61) in the form of metal support structures being connected to the distal (14) and proximal (15) ends, respectively.

Claims 6-8, see lines 4-6 of [0025] for the graft material being woven, non-woven or knitted.

Claims 9-11, see lines 18-20 of [0025] for the graft material including polyester, polypropylene or polyethylene.

Conclusion

This is a RCE of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/725147. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thomas J. Sweet whose telephone number is 571-272-4761. The examiner can normally be reached on 6:45am - 5:15pm, Tu-Th.
